ABOUT ATMN

All Things Made New provides accountability, teaching, mentoring, and networking opportunities in a safe environment for youth in middle school and high school facing high risk situations. ATMN works with the greater Irving community in providing group programs with working professionals to walk alongside these youth demonstrating healthy decisions, self-confidence and vision for their future.

MISSION

To provide mentorship, character development and life skills training for youth to lead fulfilling and rewarding lives.

VISION

To support and empower youth facing high risk behaviors in their community.

GOALS

- Offer group programs that are intentional to develop character through basic conversations, internal searching, external resources, and positive role models.
- Create relationships between the mentor and the mentee that will go beyond basic curriculum and be tailor made to meet the needs of the mentee and give them hope for their plans currently as well as in the future.
- Provide opportunities of community service for each youth to give back to the community they live in and make it a better place. In addition, we also provide positive interaction in the community to expand their perspective and give them opportunity to find potential.
- Connect with the community to make meaningful relationships for sustainable change

THE POWER

“During a small group talk, the older boys were encouraged to step in when the younger boys were speaking and looking for advice. It was awesome because every one of the older boys, who are the peer mentors, gave their input. They showed that, although they’re different ages, they value helping others along their path because they’ve been through similar things. They were encouraged to share their story being that they are closer in age and experienced a lot of these situations. I was blown away by how willing and supportive the older guys were with the younger guys.

It was a really cool experience because I don’t think the older boys originally recognized that they liked to do this. They kept talking and talking even though I had to encourage them at first to talk at all. Their actions show that they value community and each other’s story”

RYAN, MENTOR

OF MENTORING

“Over the course of knowing one of our sweet youth, which would be a little over a year now, she has grown and adjusted to being in a small group setting. When I first met her, she had a tendency to push others off and put-up walls by doing destructive behavior such as biting, physical contact and harsh words. By remaining consistent and continuing to show her how dedicated ATMN is to connecting with her, she has been able to make a few close friends. She has started to show reflection of her actions, empathy towards others, and put some thought into how certain behaviors affect others. I’ve been able to sit and talk with her one-on-one and it has been amazing seeing the walls fall. I have had a chance to really get to know her and connect with her. We definitely have some more progress to make with her, but it is encouraging to see the growth she’s shown in the year that I’ve known her. “

JASMINE, ATMN STAFF

“YAC (Youth Advisory Council) has impacted me and helped me to grow by giving me reason to progress my skills in my chosen field of interest and encouraged me to get better with working with people and teammates.”

THROUGH OUR COLLABORATION WITH THE ALLIANCE COMMUNITY EVENTS

Tea at Three, an afternoon of tea and fashion for old friends and new, raising funds for our etiquette courses and member organizations in April at MacArthur Boulevard Baptist Church.

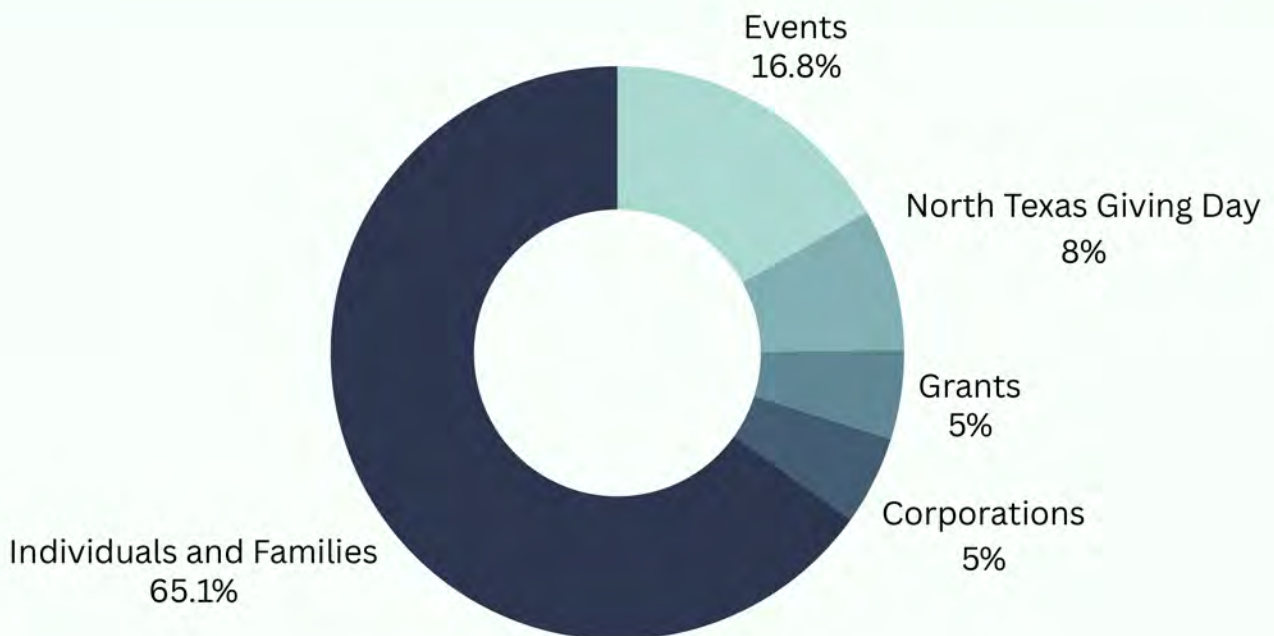

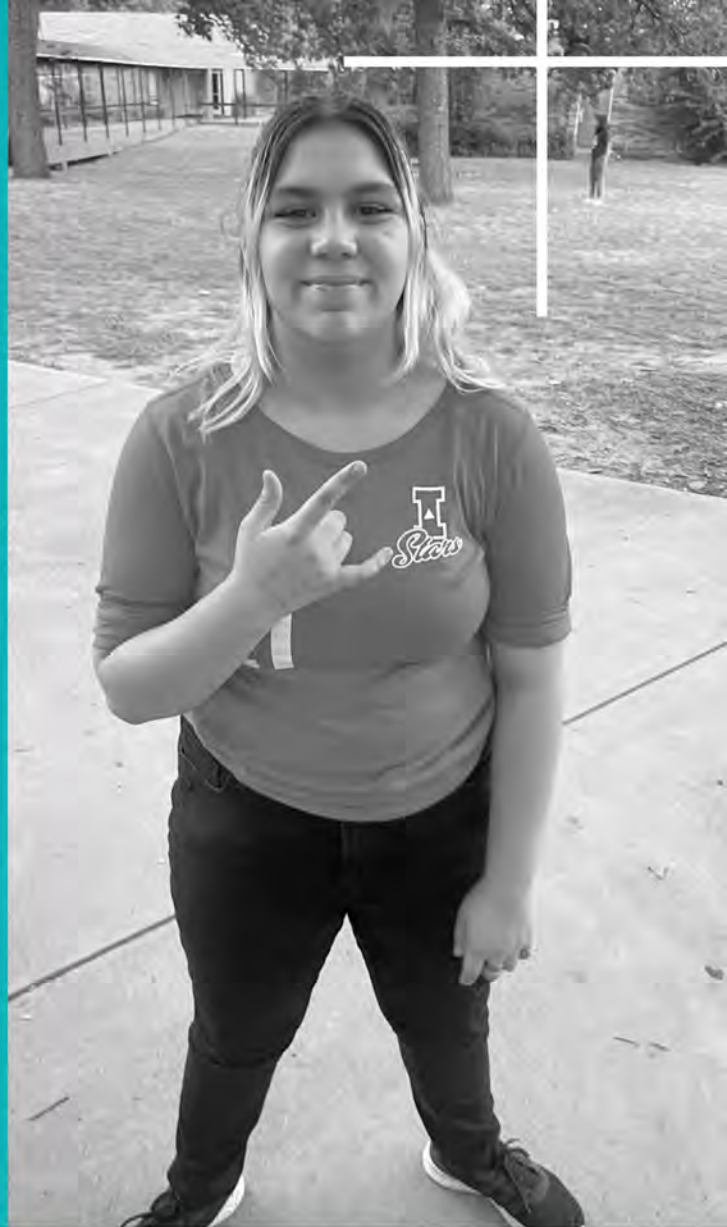

The Alliance Open, Golf Tournament, hosted in April at Bear Creek Golf Club as a successful way to connect with individuals and companies in the community to bring awareness and support to crucial programs in the community.

FINANCIALS

Thank you to our partners. We can't express the impact and lives you are changing with your partnership. From the bottom of our hearts and those we serve, we appreciate you more than you know. May you be blessed abundantly by your generosity and friendship to us at All Things Made New. Through countless individuals, businesses, and churches they have provided contents for our facility, generous financial contributions, leadership scholarships, programming, and supplies for our youth. We are forever grateful.

PARTNERSHIPS

It is because of wonderful organizations and partnerships that we are able to be a part of a community of change, a community that cares. We are thankful for these individuals, families, and many others that help us meet the needs of our youth.
